PERTH AMBOY NO LONGER A DISTRICT “IN NEED OF IMPROVEMENT”

Perth Amboy, NJ – The Perth Amboy Public Schools are pleased to announce that we have achieved adequate yearly progress (AYP) for two consecutive years. This means our district is no longer a “district in need of improvement” as defined by the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB).

“We now know that Perth Amboy can reach the standards of any district in the State of New Jersey,” stated John M. Rodecker, Superintendent of Schools. “I believe that we can continue the momentum of improvement for all of our schools not only because of the perseverance of our teachers and staff but also, most importantly, because of the hard work and dedication of our students.”

These results are based on the final 2008 adequate yearly progress (AYP) results compiled by the New Jersey Department of Education.
